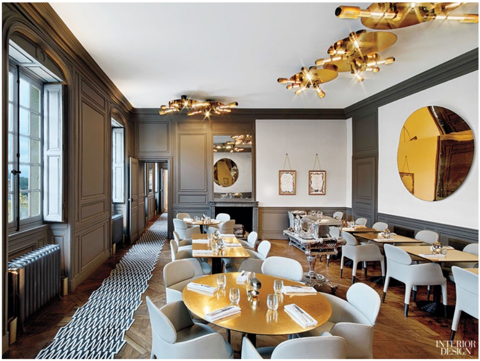
The Gilded Age: 16 Brass and Gold Interiors

February 20, 2019
By Kristie Garrell

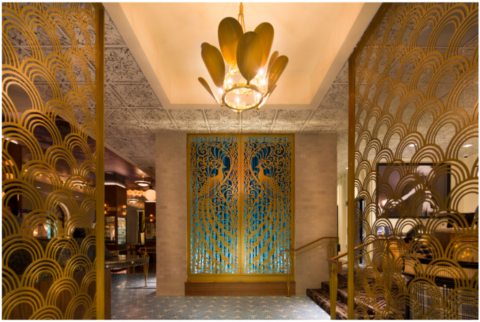
At Interior Design, we've noticed an upswing in use of a certain metallic tone that begs the question: Are we entering a new gilded age? Opulence defines and elevates these spaces, inspiring a golden hour that lasts all day and all night.

1. Ore by Dominique Perrault Architecte



Custom ceiling fixtures in brushed brass light up the polished brass tabletops, while bent mirrors, also custom, are tinted stainless steel.

2. The Gibson by Mister Important Design



The pattern of the laser-cut steel screens is based on Art Deco doors in a 1920s Chicago building.

3. Bulgari New York by Peter Marino Architect

INTERIOR
DESIGN

Bronze screens encase the stairway.

4. Capital 8 Office by Saguez Workstyle

INTERIOR

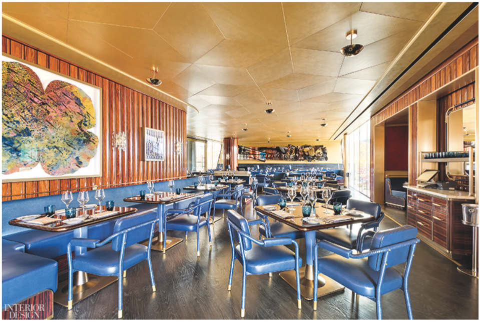
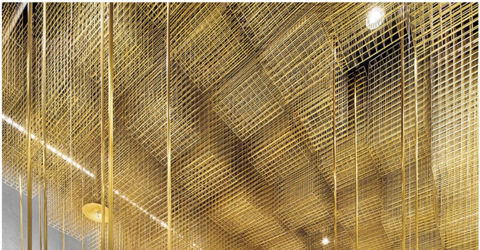
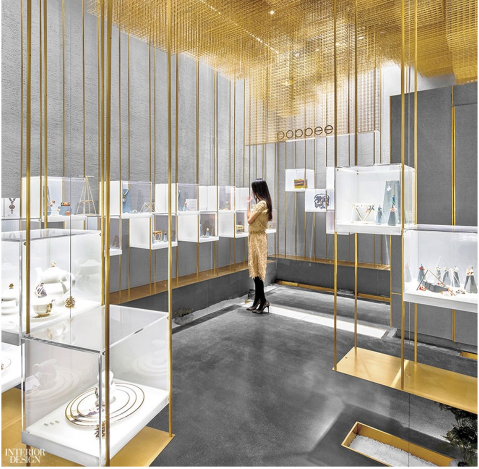
6. Bullion by Martin Brudnizki Design Studio and Gensler



Matthew Chambers's untitled work on canvas hangs against paneling of afromosia hardwood.

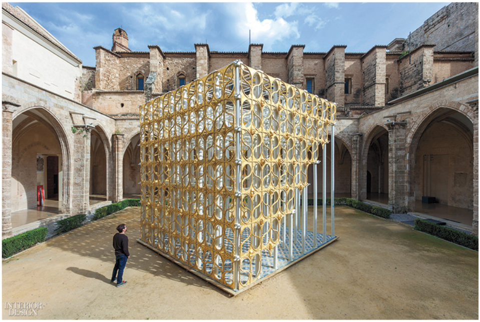
7. Poppee by Atelier Tree





A cloud of powder-coated iron mesh inspired by crepuscular rays filters into gold-plated stainless-steel rods, which support acrylic boxes displaying jewelry at eye level.

8. Burning Man Installation in a Spanish Cloister by Pink Intruder



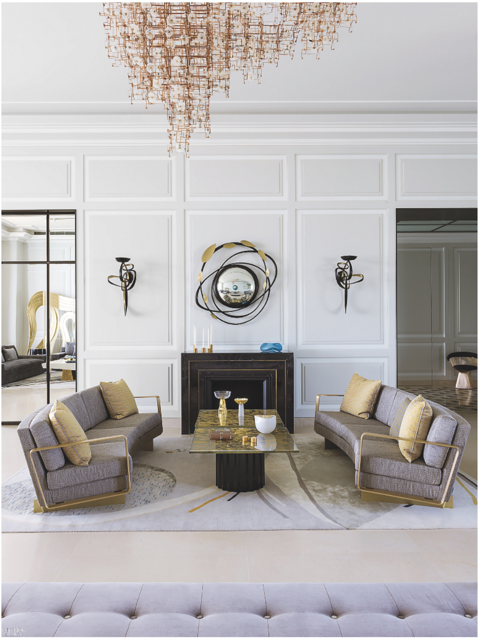
Sheets of gold-leafed paper, varnished to protect it from the elements, wrapped the latticework.

9. Italian Duplex Apartment by Tissellistudioarchitetti

INTERIOR DESIGN

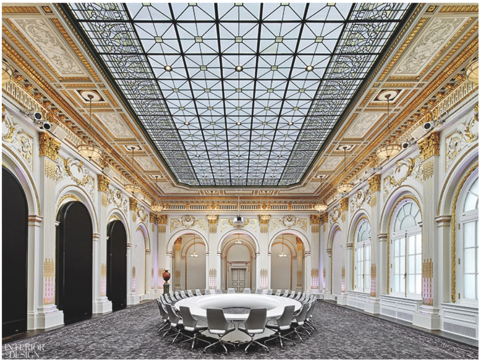
White walls are enlivened by strategically placed panels of gold-tinted mirror.

10. Beirut Triplex by Claude Missir



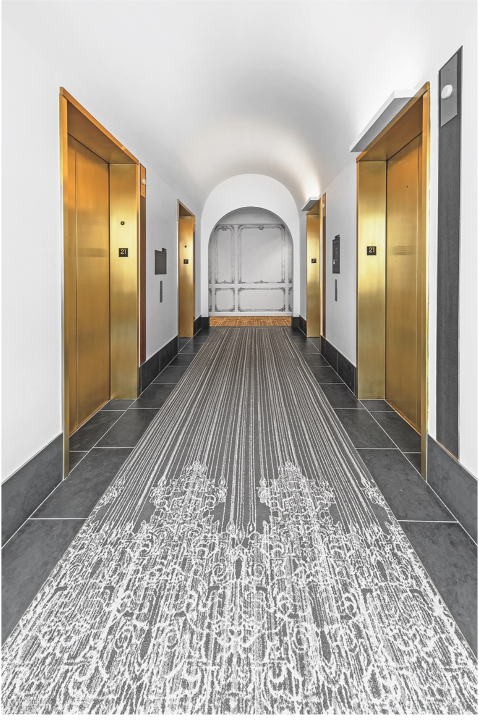
Van der Straeten designed the polished and patinated bronze mirror and sconces near the sitting room mantle; sofas Missir conceived for Nilufar Gallery sit on a Marcel Zelmanovitch rug.

11. New York Stock Exchange by Studios Architecture and Rottet Studio



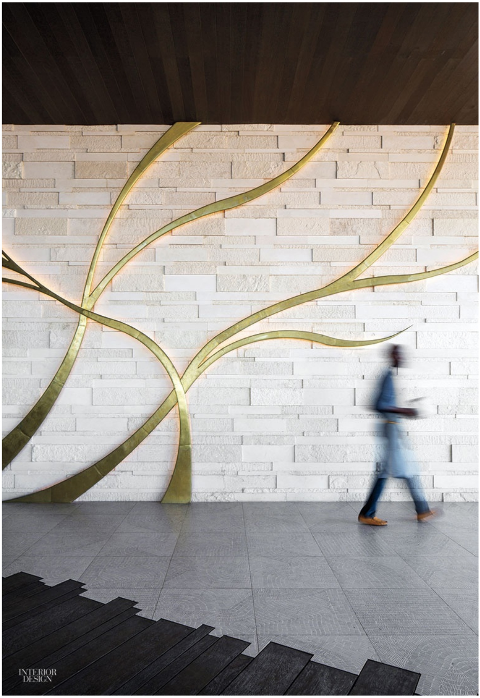
In the boardroom, archways between gold-accented Corinthian pilasters have now been fitted with LED screens that can be used for presentations.

12. Hotel Alessandra by Rottet Studio



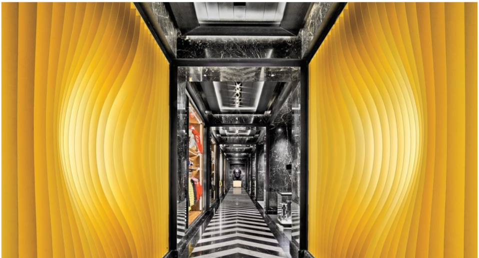
An elevator corridor features a custom rug leading up to vinyl wall covering derived from a painting by Maksim Koloskov, a Rottet Studio senior associate.

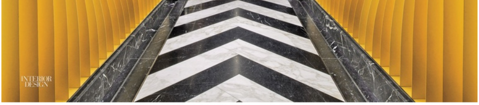
13. Comal at Chileno Bay Resort & Residences by Gulla Jónsdóttir Architecture + Design



The backlit wall sculpture is brass.

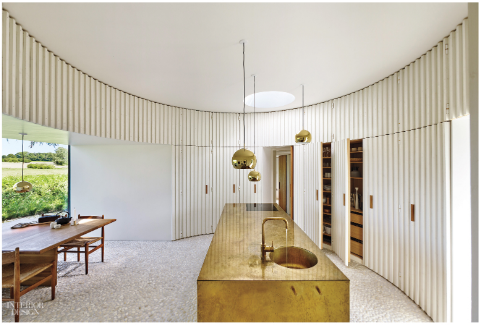
14. Moncler Flagship by Gilles & Boissier





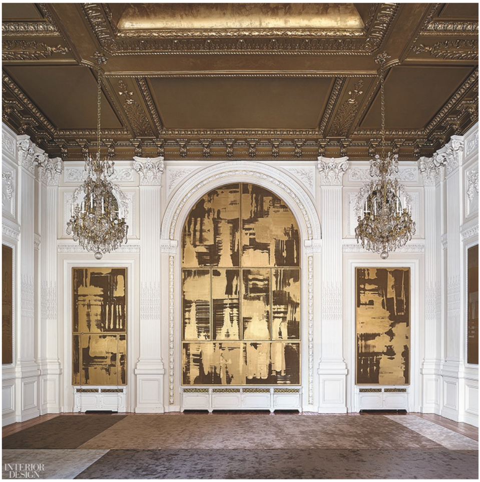
The entry's installation in anodized aluminum is by the artist Bardula.

15. Island Home by Jan Henrik Jansen



A local blacksmith crafted the brass kitchen island, complemented by faucets in the same finish.

16. Clifford Chance Events Space by Pierre Bonnefille



Gold leaf and bronze powder change tones with different light sources.
